Summary:

We have found that there needs to always be a minimum of two employees on-site during operations. With the current schedule, there are approximately 3 or more hours each shift where we only have one staff member on-site.

With the addition of three employees, we would replace the temporary staffing position, and add an overlap schedule to the remaining shifts so that we have all hours covered for two employees on-site. This would also give us coverage for PTO's or callouts as well.
